PREFACE

This edition of Pick-A-Title has been produced in response to an overwhelming demand for the 1978 edition. The continuing interest in media about the handicapped is an encouraging indication of the interest and involvement of public and school librarians, educators, and the community.

We have produced the second edition of Pick-A-Title to be used as a companion to the 1978 edition which is listed in this publication. Two new features are the incorporation of print and non-print media in each of the interest level areas and a section for parents with instructional materials for use in the home.

The Division of Library Development and Services and the Division of Special Education have a continuing commitment to support special education programs in conjunction with library programs. This publication is intended to offer newer titles in all forms of media which reflect the growing sensitivity to and full involvement of handicapped individuals in our society.
